

Email: support@pricecheckindia.com

PriceCheckIndia API Usage Terms & Conditions

- Following Terms and Conditions have been put together in good faith and the API usage automatically assumes the acceptance of everything stated below
- PriceCheckIndia API is a property of PriceCheckIndia Web Solutions LLP (the company)
- The APIs can be only accessed only from the IP you provided with the given key.
- Any application built using PriceCheckIndia API need to provide credit to The Company. Easiest way to achieve is to have “Powered by www.PriceCheckIndia.com” in the appropriate location based on the type of application. Branding neutral API solutions are offered as Premium Service.
- The company requires all the API subscribers to use the information returned from the API for the directed use only. Reselling of the API is strictly prohibited and will lead to immediate termination of the agreement and legal action.
- The company reserves the right to show sponsored listings of store and other information. API subscribers are required to display such content in its original form and order, without any modification.
- All the product and price related information provided by the PriceCheckIndia APIs is for informational purposes only. This information is provided on a best effort basis by refreshing the databases at frequent intervals. However PriceCheckIndia cannot guarantee the accuracy of that as information tends to change very rapidly. Please refer to the product catalog at the respective stores for real time information.
- The company is not liable for any issues arising from misusing the API and is not subject to any damage caused by it in any nature
- Pricing is exclusively prepared for each business partner based on their nature of the business and volume of work. Please request for a price quote for your business.
- The company has complete rights over the API and can change the terms and conditions at any point without any prior notice
- We encourage you to explore innovative applications around product pricing, in a way that your website/application adds value to the existing ecosystem.
- All disputes subject to Kanpur jurisdiction.